MANCHESTER, N.H. » Bernie Sanders won New Hampshire's presidential primary election Tuesday night, narrowly edging moderate rival Pete Buttigieg and scoring the first clear victory in the Democratic Party's chaotic 2020 nomination fight.

In his win, the 78-year-old Sanders, a self-described democratic socialist, beat back a strong challenge from the 38-year-old former Midwestern mayor, two men representing different generations and wings of their party. "This victory here is the beginning of the end for Donald Trump," Sanders declared. As Sanders and Buttigieg celebrated, an unexpectedly strong performance from Amy Klobuchar gave her a path out of New Hampshire as the contest moves on to the string of state-by-state primary contests that lie ahead.

Fourteen days after leaving the area of China where novel coronavirus was quickly spreading, 195 Americans who had been quarantined at March Air Reserve Base near Riverside are now free to go home. They celebrated the moment Tuesday morning by tossing their face masks like graduates at a commencement ceremony. Then most of the group, who health officials say carry zero risk of spreading the disease, got on buses that took them to commercial flights at Ontario International Airport or Los Angeles International Airport.

A handful will spend another day voluntarily at the base where they had been confined, waiting for flights that leave today, said Riverside County health spokesman Jose Arballo Jr. The top-ranked State Department official for the Wuhan region, Consul General Jamie Fouss, stayed behind an extra hour to describe what it was like being confined to the base in the first U.S. quarantine since 1963. "Everyone felt like the quarantine was their civic duty," Fouss said, his voice showing his emotion in a news conference Tuesday. Fouss thanked health officials,

Eco-friendly electricity generators go online

Natural gas-fired plants don't use ocean water to cool, won't harm sea life

More efficient, ocean-friendly natural gas generators have gone online ahead of schedule at AES power plants in Huntington Beach and Long Beach, although the timing for demolition of older, larger stacks remains unclear. While the state is moving toward a goal of carbon-free electricity by 2045, gas-fired plants continue to be essential, particularly during morning and evening hours when solar and wind energy is typically at a lull. The gas plants generate about a third of the state's electricity. Compared with the old units,
